

The European voice of the adhesive and sealant industry

Regulatory Affairs Manager – Chemicals, Environment & Health

FEICA, Brussels

The Association

FEICA, the Association of the European Adhesive and Sealant Industry, is the multinational association for the adhesive and sealant industry in Europe. With the support of national associations across Europe and several direct and affiliated members, FEICA coordinates, represents and advocates the common interests of our industry throughout Europe. FEICA represents the industry at a European level and works with all relevant stakeholders to create a mutually beneficial economic and legislative environment.

The Position

For their offices in Brussels, FEICA is looking for an experienced and motivated Regulatory Affairs Manager.

In this position you will have the opportunity to represent the views of the adhesives and sealants sector, with a special focus on REACH for downstream users and chemical safety topics related to health and environment. You will be organising and managing the daily work for relevant groups; this involves managing working groups, leading specific projects, collecting relevant information and developing industry positions. In addition to communicating with and providing advice to the members, he/she will also interact with external parties, such as the European Commission, ECHA and other industry associations.

Main Responsibilities

- Managing Regulatory Working Groups on REACH (with a focus on downstream users' rights and duties), CLP and other substance-related regulatory topics.
- Managing Regulatory Task Forces related to polymers, nanomaterials, microplastics, mixtures.
- Main tasks include, but are not limited to:
 - Adding value to members in monitoring, analysing and reporting relevant and often complex regulatory issues;
 - Gathering and summarising feedback from FEICA members regarding the consequences of relevant legislative proposals;
 - Assisting or leading in drafting industry position papers, guidance documents, presentations and website content on relevant issues;
 - Representing FEICA in the different consortia and external meetings (e.g. CEFIC, DUCC, ENES, ...)
 - Liaising with officials in the EU institutions;
 - Working with other involved stakeholders where relevant;

This position requires occasional travel overnight.

The Requirements

- Proven and relevant working experience within EU regulatory affairs and advocacy related to chemicals (in particular, to health and environment) and/or in an industrial or trade association context;
- University degree, preferably in a scientific discipline, with other degrees being considered;
- Excellent command of written and spoken English is a must, additional language skills are an asset;
- Knowledge of the adhesives and sealants industry and/or relevant legislation would be a benefit;
- Previous WG involvement would equally be a strong asset;
- Personal skills:
 - Ability to work in a small and international team;
 - Ability to manage complex issues and prioritise workload against potentially conflicting interests from the rather diverse membership and summarise their implications for the industry in laymen's language;
 - Strong networking skills and the ability to work in an international environment;
 - Good organisational skills and the ability to coordinate several projects simultaneously.

The Offer

- You will be dealing with a dynamic global industry in which Europe is a key player;
- Working on new, exciting and rapidly developing topics;
- You will be representing an organisation that is well-regarded within the industry with excellent ties to key institutions;
- Flexible working hours and partial working from home could be considered;
- Competitive salary package, including meal tickets, group and health insurance, gym membership and other exclusive benefits.

The Application

All interested candidates are asked to send their curriculum vitae and letter of motivation to Sergey Golyshin, Recruitment Consultant at sergey.golyshin@theears.eu AND to Sebastien Bechara, Recruitment Officer at info@theears.eu.
